The Honorable Todd Blanche
Attorney General
U.S. Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, D.C. 20530-0001

Dear Attorney General Blanche:

I write urgently regarding the recent discovery of voters in Texas allegedly being bribed for their vote in the upcoming U.S. Senate race. On video, an operative associated with Texas Majority PAC admitted to operating a scheme referred to as a “paid promotional program,” through an outside group called “Relentless.”¹ Texas Majority PAC is a pro-James Talarico political action committee.

In the video, Sky McAdams, an organizing member for Texas Majority PAC, explains the bribery scheme in plain terms. “We are paying people $25 to attend a one-hour Zoom class to learn why voting is important and why Republicans are causing all of these bad things...It’s like a roundabout way of paying people for their votes, essentially.” In their campaign finance report filed in July of this year, Texas Majority PAC paid Relentless $500,000 for a “relational organizing program.”² This accounts for nearly a fifth of their expenditure up to that point funding this illegal, voter manipulation project. Texas Majority PAC is an organization that strongly supports James Talarico, as well as at least nine other Democrat candidates up for election in Texas, as they are, “dedicated to electing a Democrat to statewide office in Texas.”³

Free and fair elections are the backbone of our constitutional republic. They are what set this nation apart from our adversaries, and what have allowed the United States to become the greatest country in the world. Americans deserve to participate in elections that are free of illegal immigrant voting, foreign adversary financing, and especially shady political organizations that seek to purchase the votes of Americans and tarnish a privilege afforded to our nation's citizens.

Texas Majority PAC, through its documented partnership with Relentless, has openly admitted to defying the law and purchasing votes in the U.S. Senate race. If this is true, this criminal behavior has no place in America and our elections. The government has a responsibility to investigate and hold accountable those that seek to circumvent free and fair elections through bribery of voters.

Accordingly, I am requesting a formal investigation into Texas Majority PAC and Relentless for coordinating a voter-bribery operation through their "paid promotional program," and any other similar instances of voter manipulation related to James Talarico's campaign for U.S. Senate in Texas.

Sincerely,
